SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE RECORD-UNION.

A Country Whose Resources Have Not Been Fully Appreciated. Washington, November 1st.—Governor Swineford, of Alaska, in his annual report, estimates the value of the taxable property in that country at $10,000,000, exusive of the Alaska Commercial Company's establishment on the Seal Islands. The increase, he says, will be rapid as soon as Congress, by necessary legislation, gives encouragement to settlement of public lands. AGRICULTURE, MINING, ETC. He says there is very considerable acreage of tillable land in southeastern Alaska, with a soil that produces the most luxurious vegetation, the fact being that no one comes into the Territory with the belief that either the soil or climate is adapted to agricultural and horticultural purposes. But the few experiments which have been made leave no room for doubt that all the cereals, except corn, can be grown to perection in many sections.

As to stock-raising, he says the winters

t southeastern Alaska are much milder than those of Montana, Wyoming and Dakota, and the seasons altogether quite well adapted to this industry. The Governor says that wonderful results are being achieved in mining, showng the Territory to be rich in precious metals. THE BOUNDARY DISPUTE. He says it is reported that Mr. Ogilvie who was sent out by the Dominion Government last spring to locate the boundary line between Alaska and the northwest Territory, claims that Shitando river is in British territory, and has suggested that, on the strength of his report, his Govern-ment is likely to attempt next summer the ollection of the miners' licenses provided or in the Canadian law.

The Governor says any attempt of this kind will be resisted by the miners, a large majority of whom are American citizens, and if persisted in will certainly end in bloodshed, and suggests that in view of the imminent danger of such troubles a re-commendation to Congress in behalf of a Joint Commission to definitely settle the boundary line should be urgently renewed.

THE SEAL AND OTHER FISHERIES. The salmon, cod and whale fisheries, h ays, yielded about $3,000,000 during the A considerable space in the report is devoted to the doings of the Alaska Com-mercial Company, which holds a lease from the Government for the fur privileges. He declares that the compaying such small sums for pelts that the poor seal hunters are always in their debt; that it has marked the coin of the country passing through its hands, and will accept no unmarked coin from the natives; that t has boycotted and driven away honest dovernment officers who refused to do it bidding. ### ONE SURVIVOR.

Rescue of One of the Vernon's Crew-His Sad Story.

STURGEON BAY (Wis.), November 1st. STURGEON BAY (Wis.), November 1st.—
Up to the arrival of the schooner Pomeroy from Chicago, which passed through the bay to-day, it was supposed that not a single survivor was left of the forty or fifty people on board the propeller Vernon, which went down off Sheboygan early last Saturday morning. It is now known, however, that at least one man lives to tell the tale of that terrible night on Lake Michigan. The Pomeroy has an board

gan. The Pomeroy has on board THE ONLY SURVIVOR. So far as now known, of that awful disaster. The name of the man who has thus een rescued from death after he had given up all hope of ever again setting foot upo dry land, is Alfred Stone, of Chicago, on of the Vernon's crew. He had been in the water sixty hours, exposed to a bitter, piercing wind, and without a bite to eat, when the Pomeroy discovered him on a raft last night, about eight miles from Sheboygan. It was a clear, moonlight night Stone was so cold as to be almost helpless and so weak from hunger that he coul scarcely move. Although still very weak from the effects of his awful experience, Stone was able to make a brief statemen of the events of that NEVER TO-BE-FORGOTTEN NIGHT. "I was awakened in the middle of the night," he says, "by cries of the passenger and crew that the vessel was sinking. sprang out of a window and found mysels on a life-raft with six other persons. I cannot say now who my companions were Part of them were members of the crew and part were passengers. It seemed only a moment until the vessel went down, and I believe that all but a few of those on board went down with her. I do not know just how many people were aboard at the time, but the number could not have been ful night. I never saw such a sea as that which tossed over the little craft.

WHEN DAYLIGHT CAME We hoisted a signal of distress, using a coa tied to an oar. Two vessels passed so near us on Saturday that they must have seen our signal, yet for some reason they apparently made no effort to reach us. THE STORM STILL RAGED, Prohibition or High License.

The Riverside Press says: When St. John spoke in Riverside advocating pro-hibition he said, "between high license or free whisky, give me the latter every time." His object was to make the latter so odious that prohibition absolute would follow. On this point we have a good llustration of the two in this city and San Bernardino. While the temperance element here is perhaps not strong enough to prohibit the sale of liquor in toto, it does as to the course he shall pursue. The and, as far as that goes, it is comparatively Mayor will see O'Brien daily and report to free whisky, running seven days in the free whisky, running seven days in the week. See the result. The Courier says: "The town is beset with drunks, vags, tramps, bums, dead-beats, footpads and general frauds, but the police force is too small to keep track of them. And yet, even if we had as many police as San Francisco, we would not know what to do with the 'catch.' We have no jail; at least, the excuse for one which we have and are ashamed of has no storage capacity. What we want is more police, more Courthouse, more jail, more light."

Our little jail with its four cells is seldom ull, and often entirely empty. Yet the difference in number of population is not great. The difference in quality may be owing to the fact that "birds of a feather ock together," and where temperance people are, temperance people come, and vice versa. The Times also says: "The city is fast filling up with the rift-raff of the country, who come to spend the winter months revenue of from $90,000,000 to $100,000,000. this semi-tropical climate where frost scarcely ever enters, and the tramps, thugs, thieves and cut-throa's can rest their weary ones at night with little covering, and eed not be at the expense of hiring a oom to sleep in," and declares that the city should increase its police force, in order to hold them in check, and prevent crime and bloodshed. Practical facts are BERLIN, November 1st .- Advices from better than fine-spun theories. According to St. John's theory, San Bernardino is ripe for prohibition, yet we fail to learn of any great movement there to that end. Interesting news comes by steamer of the German outrages in Samoa.

In deciding that a town or city organized under the laws as such may prohibit the sale of fiquors—generally known as "Local Option"—the Supreme Court based its decision upon Section 11 of Article XII. of the Constitution. That provision reads: "Any county, city, town or township may make and enforce within its limits all such local, police, sanitary and other regulations as are not in conflict with general laws." The full text, printed this morning, shows how the Court disposes of the negative of the question, it holding that the power given to license does not contravene the power to regulate sale of liquors over bars, etc., and that there is no conflict between the constitution of the United States to citizens, or between the regulating ordinance and the general laws. In the Constitution of the United States to citizens, or between the regulating ordinance and the general laws. In the Constitutional Convention, it will be remembered, it was distinctly under-In the Constitutional Convention, it will be remembered, it was distinctly understood that the provision quoted would permit "Local Option" ordinances to be passed. Indeed, at the time it was not concealed that the clause was inserted as a concession to the friends of "Local Option." Generally the members supporting it took the ground that it is the part of wisdom to bring the Government as close to the people as is possible, and as far as can be done to permit the people in subdivisions of the State to legislate for themselves. The vote for the Constitution was had with this provision plainly in any denials of what power the section conferred upon municipal corporations and other local governments.

It has been held that an Act which substantially destroys the property in intoxicating liquors owned and possesed by persons within the State when the Act took effect, by preventing the sale, keeping or giving away of the same, except for medicinal purposes, is violative of this provision of the Constitution, and in its application to such liquors is inoperative and void. (Wynehamer vs. The People, 13 N. Y., 378;74 N. Y., 516.)

That question, however, is not properly before

378; 74 N. Y., 516.)

That question, however, is not properly before us in this proceeding. It is not shown by the record when, if ever, the petitioner became the owner of the liquor sold. The last paragraph of the above stroughted facts, as to payment of taxes, was intended, no doubt, to present the question arising out of ownership for an opinion, but the language is so uncertain in its effect that it ought not to be taken as the basis of a decision upon so grave and important a constitutional question. In all inquiries upon maters of this kind the facts should be full and question. (Bartemeyer vs. Iowa, 18 Wall.,

The same may be said of the contention that The same may be said of the contention that the ordinance is void under Section 8, Article I., Subd. 3 of the Constitution of the United States, because no distinction is made between imported wines and liquors remaining in the original and unbroken packages, and other wines and liquors; there is nothing to show the character of the liquors sold by the petitioner. Furthermore the petitioner is charged with keeping a bar-room and we consider the case only upon that basis. It is further claimed that the ordinance is void because "under the Musiculation of the United States, because no distinction is made between imported wines and liquors there is nothing to show the character of the liquors sold by the petitioner. Furthermore the petitioner is charged with keeping a bar-room and we consider the case only upon that basis. It is further claimed that the ordinance is void because "under the Musiculation of the United States, because divides and every grower, manufacture, trader, handler or bottler of California wine, when selling or putting up for sale any California wine * * * shall plainly stencil, brand," etc. The Act is quite a long one, and provides that "it is written agreement to the contrary, shall be presumed," etc. Section 8 provides that "it is presumed," etc. Section 8 provides that "it is desired and required that all and every grower, manufacture, trader, handler or bottler of California wine, when selling or putting up for sale of the contrary, shall be presumed," etc. Section 8 provides that "it is desired and required that all and every grower, manufacture, trader, handler or bottler of California wine, when selling or putting up for sale of the contrary shall be presumed," etc. Section 8 provides that "it is desired and required that all and every grower, manufacture, trader, handler or bottler of California wine, when selling or putting up for sale of the contrary shall be required and required cipal Corporation Act, the city of Pasadena was not authorized to pass the ordinance—(Stats. of 1883, chapter XLIX., Section 862, Subd. 1-10); for if the Legislature had intended to confer the power to prohibit the sale of wines and liquors upon cities of the sixth class (of which Pasadena is one), it would have said so in direct terms, as was done in the case of cities of the fourth class."

Prior to the adoption of the Constitution of 1879, the local authorities possessed only such powers as were expressly, or by necessary implication, conferred upon them by their charters. It is now provided that: "Any county, city, town or township may make and entored."

ters. It is now provided that: "Any county, city, town or township may make and enforce within its limits all such local police, sanitary and other regulations as are not in conflict with general laws." (Article XI., Section 11, Constitution.) Under this provision every county, city, town or township may adopt and enforce such constitutional regions and enforce nch constitutional police regulations as are in conflict with general laws. It has the same power over its own local release to the same power over its own local release to the same local release to t power over its own local police and sanitary affairs as were formerly granted by the Legislature, and, unless the exercise thereof will conflic with the operation of general laws, it may make and enforce the same through its local government. That such a law as the one before us is not repurpant to any clause of the Consti overnment. That such a law as the one before is is not repugnant to any clause of the Consti-ution of the United States, there can be no loubt. The Supreme Court of the United States as decided uniformly that: "The usual ordi-ary legislation of the States regulating or pro-ibiting the sale of intoxicating liquors raises o question under the Constitution of the United tates prior to the Fourteenth Amendment of lat instrument. The right to sell intoxicating quors is not one of the privileres and inverse. nors is not one of the privileges and imposed the citizens of the United States, y induois is not one of the Phyloges and immunities of the citizens of the United States, which by that amendment the States were forbidden to abridge." (Bartemeyer vs. Iowa, supra; License cases, 5 Howard, 504; Beer Co. vs. Mass., 97 U. S., 32); and that the power to license, regulate or prohibit tippling houses is a constitutional right, which may be enforced, as a police regulation through proper legislation, is no longer an open question in this state. In exparte Smith and keating, 38 Cal., 708, it was said: "Legislatures have enacted a variety of laws, which undoubtedly in a general sense affect the rights of life, liberty, property, safety and happiness by way of restraint. Of such are laws regulating the slaughter of animals, the interment of the dead, the erection of buildings in cities and towns of inflammable material, the manufacture and keeping of gunpowder and manufacture and keeping of gunpowder and other explosive compounds, the vending of poisons and other noxious drugs, the sale of indoxicating beverages to certain classes of persons, as Indians, and even to all classes of persons, as in the case of the prohibitory laws of Maine and Massachusetts." (Ex parte McClain, it Cal. 437.) Unless we are prepared, therefore, to override these we are prepared, therefore, to override is decisions of our own State, and disregard to decisions of the Supreme Court of the United tes, we must hold that the ordinance in quesnis free from objection as far as its constitutiality is concerned; that it is not violative of clause of the Constitution of the United tes, and that it is in its scope and operation him the police powers which may be lawfully hin the police powers which may be lawfully orced under the provisions of the Constituconsidered under the provisions of the constitution of this State.

There is but one ques ion remaining to be considered: Is the ordinance "in conflict with general laws?" Section 11, Article XI., of the Constitution, clearly subordinates the powers conferred upon counties, cities, towns and townships to the general laws of the State. It is claimed that the ordinance before us is in conflict with general laws because "he one prohibits, the other makes full provision for the granting of licenses for the sale of spirituous, vinous and malt liquors." In support of this contention counsel cites Sections 3356, 3381, 3382, 4445, 4408 of the Political Code, and Subd. 33, Section 25, of the County Government Act, Stats, of 1883, p. 393. The provisions of the Political Code referred to are unconstitutional and no longer operative. This was decided in ion of this State. 1883, p. 303. The provisions of the Political Code referred to are unconstitutional and no longer operative. This was decided in People vs. Martin, 60 Cal., 156, where it is said that "the taking of the power to impose such taxes (licenses), from the Legislature, and vesting it in the local authorities, is but another of the many evidences to be found in the new Constitution of the intention to bring matters of a local concern home to the people." Those sections of the Code, therefore, stand annulled by the Constitution. Section 25 of the County Government Act confers upon the Boards of Supervisors in their respective counties power to make and enforce "all such local police, sanitary and other regulations as are not in conflict with general laws. There is nothing in the case before us to show whether the Board of Supervisors of Los Angeles county have ever made any regulations with respect to the sale of wines or liquors in saloons and bar-rooms, but manifestly such regulations if made could not operate to divest the authorities of the city of the right to legislate upon the same subject, and enforce such regulations within the city limits. The regulations of the Board of Supervisors would not be a general law within the meaning of the provisions of Section 11, Article XI. of the Constitution.

Our attention has not been called to any general law from which an intention on the part of the Legislature to prohibit such ordinance as in attention has not been called to any gen-law from which an intention on the part of Legislature to prohibit such ordinance of one before us—local police regulations in ities—can be inferred. It is true, as claimed he petitioner, the Legislature has by many is manifested the policy of encouraging the with of the grape and the manufacture of es and brandles by our people, and has con-red the traffic heretofore as a legitimate ce of revenue; but no Act now in force and sidered the traffic heretofore as a legitimate source of revenue; but no Act now in force and effect is by its express terms, or by implication, a limitation upon the powers of the municipalities of the State to regulate or prohibit the sale of intoxicating liquors in bar-rooms. The Legislature "has prohibited the sale of liquors to minors, and in the lebbies of theaters, near camp meetings and in and about certain public buildings and institutions of learning. It has also repealed what was known as the Sunday law, and by an Act recently passed has made it unlawful to sell, under the name of wine, or under any name designating pure wines, any substance or compound except pure wine or pure grape must, as defined in the Act; and has appropriated a large sum of money for the use of the State Board Viticulture. All these are indicative of a policy to regulate.

DISSENTING OPINION. I dissent: There is no pretense that the ord nance in question is the result of the exercise of the power to regulate, or to raise revenue for the power to regulate, or to raise revenue for municipal purposes by license or tax. Its clear purpose is practically to destroy the ownership of certain commodities, which, in other parts of the State, are recognized and dealt with as property as fully as is flour, or bacon, or sugar. One of them—wine—is the product of a leading industry. It provides that these commodities shall not be sold or given away at any place within the bounds of the municipality. The power to sell or d. spose of property gives to it its main valuable quality; and to take away this quality is to, substantially, confiscate it. Without discussing the many other grave constitutional questions which the case presents—the discussion of which other duties prevents—I will content myself with saying here, that, in my opinion, the ordinance is "in conflict with general laws." The text of a State Constitution is necessarily torse and concise, and it may be assumed that

Not only is there nothing in the provisions of the ordinance before us inconsistent with general laws, but its provisions are in harmony with the authority expressly vested in cities of Catarrh in the Head.—Ely's Cream BALM has done me more good than anything I ever tried. I had the Catarrh very bad in my head. It had become chronic and, falling into my throat, left a bad taste in my mouth. Since I have used two bottles it has stopped all of that. I am ever ready to recommend it very highly.—Weatt Hoffman, Sergeant Company G, Twenty-fifth Infantry, Fort Sisseton, D.T.

I cheerfully add my testimony in favor of eral laws, but its provisions are in harmony with the enthority expressly vested in cities of the sixth class by Section 862 of the Municipal Corporation Act of March 13, 1883, which provides that the Board of Trustees shall have power "to pass all ordinances not in conflict with the Constitution and laws of this State, or of the United States." This Act of March 13, 1883, is in harmony with and passed in obedience to the provisions of Section 5, Article XI., of the Constitution. ordinance is "in conflict with general laws." The text of a State Constitution is necessarily terse and concise, and it may be assumed that its framers in stating a rule or principle, used as few words as would fairly express the idea intended. The evident intention of the clause above quoted was to prevent any confusion, or discord, or incongruity between the general legislation of the State in its broad sovereign capacity and the special legislation of its dependent municipalities. An ordinance, therefore, may be in conflict with general laws, although the latter may not in express terms forbid the passage of the former. Whatever is inconsistent or inharmonious or at variance with or contradictory of or repugnant to the general policy of the State as expressed in its general laws, is "in conflict" with those laws. And that there is a conflict in this sense between an ordinance which substantially declares that certain commodities shall not be property, and general laws of the State which not only impliedly, but expressly, declare that they are property, seems to be too clear for discussion. From the first to the last session of the Legislature of this State wines and liquors have been recognized as property, and as a legitimate source of revenue. The policy of the State has been to encourage, not to cripple, their manufacture. Prior to the new Constitution was adopted that source of revenue has been turned over to the counties. The county government bill, which is a "general law," expressly authorizes the county governments to license such sale; and the city of Pasa-NOTICE OF STREET WORK. NOTICE OF STREET WORK.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE,

Visitors to the State Capitol. Every day a large number of immigrants | the distance traveled there is who are passing through the city avail itol, who is putting in all his spare time studying law, has found it necessary to lay aside Blackstone the greater part of the day and answer questions and show the strangers through the building. The first thing that attracts their attention is the Columbus group of statuary. Mr. Rego has a lecture upon this work of art that he rattles of with the rapidity of an auctioneer, and tells more in three minutes than they could read up in three months. Some of the visitors appreciate the kindness and attention of their guide, and when they say good-bye and shake hands with Mr. Rego they leave in the latter's paim, a "tip," which makes the latter smile and bow with people from every country and every State in the Union, has enabled Mr. Rego

CLUNIE OPERA HOUSE.-The De Lano "Uncle Tom's Cabin" Company produce the play at a matinee this afternoon at 2 o'clock, and for the last time to-night. The play, even when indifferently presented, has a wonderfully attractive power, due to the recollection of the influence Mrs. Stowe's book had upon political and social conditions in this country in the days of slavery. De Lano has not been successful in securing good support. His Eva, Eliza, and his own "Marks" with capable backing would enable him to present the piece in a way worthy of commendation.

Views of an Eastern Merchant. A. A. Durfee and wife, of Detroit, Mich. are visiting in Sacramento. Mr. Durfee came to California in 1849, on the old ship Niantic. The vessel was grounded at Clay and Sansome streets, San Francisco, and thereafter a hotel was built upon her ribs, and for many years was known as the Ni-antic Hotel. Mr. Durfee remained twenty-one years in California, doing business many years at Folsom in this county, and then returned to the East. For many years he has resided in Detroit, and is of the wholesale fruit, canned goods and general food supply house of Flinn & Durfee, 136 largest and most varied production, and has the best climate, and by all odds is the best locality for producers, and men who propose to till land for profit. He has had such intimate relation with the California fruit ousiness at the East that he has had special opportunities to judge before returning to California, and now persona spection confirms his view of the case. and he unhesitatingly pronounces in favor of central and northern valleys as better for ll general purposes than any other sec-ions he has seen. Mr. Durfee says a neavy immigration is coming to California —and, indeed, is now en route. But he adds that seven out of ten of the people East who talk of this State, will hear of nd northern sections have not nearly se much informed the people of the East o the advantages and resources of those re ons. Mr. Durfee, after spending a few days here, goes up the valley on the east side of the river, and will return down the west side. He reports that there is a considerable percentage of Eastern people now in Southern California who desire cheaper lands than they can procure there who are coming this way to examine the country with a view of locating.

norning, so mysteriously disappeared rom his home in this city, is home again. Ever since his departure his father and riends have been hard at work searching or him, and have sent telegrams to all owns in adjoining counties, while the police force of Sacramento has kept parp lookout. The search of Mr. Hol ngsworth was rewarded Sunday evening when a dispatch from Suisun, some thirt niles from Woodland, announcing that nan answering the description had been rrested at that place. Monday morning Mr. Hollingsworth went down to Suisur nd on visiting the Court-house found the letained person was his son. A glance leveloped the fact that Hollingsworth was was not in his right mind. His face was very red and swollen, and his eyes had a acant stare. He scarcely knew his father. The authorities stated that he had been ound wandering about town in a quee ort of a manner and had him locked up Mr. Hollingsworth and his son arrived on the noon train Monday and at once went to the father's house. Here it was ound that Greene was in a terrible condi tion after his long tramp, he being tired sore and blistered. He did not recognize any of his relatives. He was at once cared for and every effort was made to relieve him of his exhaustion.

At a late hour last night Mr. Hollings worth had slightly improved, but still did not recognize his relatives. There is no doubt, however, of the ultimate recovery of is reason. It is certainly a miraculous occurrence that Mr. Hollingsworth did not fall by the wayside or get seriously injured in some way. He evidently walked from Wood-land to Sacramento and thence to Suisun, over railway tracks and trestles and acros now engaged in the fruit business at Detroit, Mich., is in town. Miss Bertha Hyman, of San Francisco who has been visiting Sacramento, the guest of Miss Hannah Stein, returned to her home vesterday.

Hon. J. B. Patterson, of Placer, is in town. He says that the demand for Placer county real estate, especially in the vicinity of Lincoln, is quite active. nothing but Southern California, and that it is difficult to get them to even consider any other portion of the State. This is due to the fact that the Californians of central Adjutant-General Orton came up from M. J. O'Reilly, one of the clerks in the State Controller's office, is spending a few days in San Francisco. He will endeavor, while at the Bay, to complete arrangements necessary to secure the holding of the next Democratic State Convention in

Catarrh Cured Catarrh is a very prevalent disease, with distressing and offensive symptoms. Hood's Sarsaparilla gives ready relief and speedy and thus reaches every part of the system. "I suffered with catarrh fifteen years. Took Hood's Sarsaparilla and I am not troubled any with catarrh, and my general health is much better." I. W. LILLIS, Postal Clerk Chicago & St. Louis Railroad. "I suffered with catarrh 6 or 8 years; tried many wonderful cures, inhalers, etc., spending nearly one hundred dollars without benefit. I tried Hood's Sarsaparilla, and was greatly improved." M. A. ABBEY, Worcester, Mass. Hood's Sarsaparilla is characterized by three peculiarities: 1st, the combination of remedial agents; 2d, the proportion: 3d, the process of securing the active medicinal qualities. The result is a medicine of unusual Send for book containing additional evidence. "Hood's Sarsaparilla tones up my system, purifies my blood, sharpens my appetite, and seems to make me over." J. P. THOMPSON, Register of Deeds, Lowell, Mass. "Hood's Sarsaparilla beats all others, and is worth its weight in gold." I. BARRINGTON, 130 Bank Street, New York City.

This will relieve the market somewhat, even if it does not create activity. In the present condition of the market, dealers are grateful for any ou'side trade, no matter how small, that will tend to lower stocks at hand. Brewing ranges in price from $1 to $1 02½ \(\frac{1}{2}\) & ct. Holders of Chevalier have had to carry stock simply because of the absence of buyers. Growers of the better qualities generally look to foreign sources for the disposal of their product, but this class of custom has been notably light the present season. However, something may yet develop in favor of sellers before long. At the moment the market must be quoted as nominal at $1 256 130 for standard; fair to good bay, $1@1 20; fair to good coast, $5@90c \(\frac{1}{2}\) ct. OATS—Considerable attention is bestowed on exhibited samples on 'Change, and product that is of decirable quality finds ready sale. Prices generally are steady, and the situation is shaping favorably for sellers. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is a highly concentrated and powerful medicine. It is an anodyne expectorant, and, if promptly taken, in cases of Coughs, Throat or Lung troubles, soothes and heals the irritated tissues, and quickly allays all tendency to Consumption. Six years ago, I contracted a severe Cold, which settled on my Lungs, and soon developed all the alarming symptoms of Consumption. I had a Cough, Night Sweats, Bleeding Lungs, Pain in my Chest and Sides, and was so completely protected as to be confined to my Chest and Sides, and was so completely prostrated, as to be confined to my bed most of the time. After trying various prescriptions, without benefit, my physician finally determined to give me Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. I took it, and the effect was magical. I seemed to rally from the first dose of this medicinal to the control of the icine, and, after using only three bottles, am now as well and sound as ever. -Rodney Johnson, Springfield, Ill. I have used Ayer's Cherry Pectoral in my family, for Colds and Coughs, with infallible success, and should not dare to be without this medicine through
